

MORNING LEADER.

PUBLISHED BY
E. COWLES & CO.

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 11, 1858.

Library Association Festival.

This evening the Second Annual Festival of the Cleveland Library Association will be held at Chappin's Hall. The Committee of Arrangements have spared no effort to make it the Festival of the season, and the programme is varied and inviting, something choice for every taste. SARGENT's capital band will enliven with their sweet strains; a popular Quartette will be sung by the Cleveland favorites, Mr. HOLBROOK, Mr. HARRISON, Miss SEVER, and Miss BARRETT; Reading from the Poets will follow by Professor EDGEMONT; a Duett by two Lady amateurs will be sung by the Cleveland favorites, Mr. HOLBROOK, Mr. HARRISON, Miss SEVER, and Miss BARRETT; Reading from the Poets will follow by Professor EDGEMONT; a Duett by two Lady amateurs will be sung by the Cleveland favorites, Mr. HOLBROOK, Mr. HARRISON, Miss SEVER, and Miss BARRETT.

The Cleveland Library Association is a House institution every parent and young man and woman should foster. An old debt of some $700 rests upon the Association, and the present Board of officers are exceedingly anxious to cancel it. The receipt of the Festival will be thus applied, and we trust will be found sufficient to place the Association in an independent position.

The Cleveland Library is no ephemeral institution. It has solid claims on the solid citizen. It will have much to do with forming the habits and characters of the young from generation to generation. The books of the Library, and the Lectures before the Association from year to year, will be the best permanent and prying investment parents, guardians, and public benefactors can make. The dividends will not "jingle in the pocket," but what is infinitely better, will add an hundred fold to the treasures of mind.

Add generally then from time to time to the Library funds, and sustain with cheering words and acts the Young Men who labor to advance the interests of an Association so indistinctly connected with the intellectual and moral growth and prosperity of Cleveland.

Merrill's Patent Lath Machine

We have seen this valuable invention in operation, and it works admirably. The machine is of iron throughout, and of such proportions as to unite strength and beauty in a remarkable degree. It is constructed so that one man, or even a boy fourteen or fifteen years of age, can do more work than two men in the ordinary way of sawing lath, and do it better with very much less effort. The operator places the lath intended for sawing between two feed rollers, which draw it in the saw that cuts off the lath and throws it out at the end of the machine, while the bolt drops upon a set of rollers and is immediately returned to the operator, who picks it up and places it between the feed rollers again for sawing off another strip. He may have three or four bolts on hand at the same time, and the rollers will take them out of the way as fast as he can handle them, saving from thirty to fifty pieces of four foot lath per minute, and as the whole operation is performed by machinery, save putting in the bolts, the lath is very perfect, being of a uniform thickness from end to end, and every piece the same thickness. The machines are manufactured by Messrs. FINE & PATR, Franklin Mills, Portage co., O., who have a good machine shop and Foundry well adapted to the business and under their immediate supervision.

Mr. J. S. FINE, of the firm of FINE & PATR, is a well known citizen of the Reserve, and for a number of years previous to 1844 was a resident of this County, and was engaged in building mill engines and other machinery. He then returned to New Hampshire and engaged in putting up cotton machinery. Mr. F. is an experienced and ingenious machinist, and the Lath Machines are perfect in finish. They are in operation at some of the best lumber mills in the country, both on the Detroit River and in Canada, and are highly approved.

Sorghum Sugar.

Mr. E. W. Mather, of Solon, Cuyahoga county, on the 27th of May last planted 584 rods of ground to Chinese Sugar Cane. He began to cut it up Oct. 25th, ground the cane at a mill in Bedford, obtained 425 gallons of juice which produced 91 gallons of molasses, which readily sold at 63 cents per gallon, amounting to $57.45.

Minnesota has the biggest Chinese Sugar Cane manufactory that we have yet heard of, and the cultivation of the Sorghum in that northern latitude seems to be a complete success. The St. Anthony Express states that the culture has been carried on the past season to a greater or less extent in nearly every county in the State. At Fairbault, Rice county, Mr. E. P. Mills, has gone into the culture and manufacture on quite an extensive scale. His building, several hundred feet in length, presents quite the appearance of a Southern or West India sugar house. He has mills for grinding the cane which were kept running day and night during the grinding season, and some boiling pans that hold about 100 gallons of juice each. He has manufactured from 100 to 150 barrels of syrup, which is scarcely inferior to the best golden syrup, and sells readily at 75 cents per gallon. Mr. Mills is so thoroughly satisfied of the entire success of the culture of the cane in Minnesota, that he proposes next year to cultivate from fifty to seventy-five acres, and to erect permanent steam sugar works.

The Jackson, (Miss.) Eagle of the 28th ult., learns that Col. S. A. Lockridge will go by the next steamer, Gen. Rusk, for Mexico, to tender the Liberal party, which was recently defeated under Gen. Viduaria near San Luis Potosi, substantial aid in guns, munitions of war, &c., &c.

Editorial Morning Leader.

In the Review of this morning there is a statement that on Sunday night last some mercenary shot into the house of United States Deputy Marshal Dayton, of this place. In order to prevent a false impression being made, I send you this note. That there was a revolver fired two or three times in rapid succession, in or near Mr. Dayton's house, there can be no doubt; but that it was done by a mercenary there is every reason to doubt unless that mercenary was in the person of Dayton himself, or some one employed by him.

The prevailing and general opinion in this place is, so far as I have been able to ascertain, that he did the shooting himself, or procured it to be done, in order to turn the tide of sympathy in his favor.

If Mr. Dayton can make the impression abroad that he is a persecuted man, he will do abroad what he never can do in this community.

Americans Travelling in Europe.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia U. S. Gazette says that since Gen. Cass became Secretary of State, ten thousand right hundred and seven passports have been issued from the Department. Each passport is supposed to cover three of a family on an average, making some thirty thousand persons a year. An expenditure of $1000 each, and thirty millions a year would thus be required, and that is not the case. The fact is interesting and worthy of reflection.

The Gold Mines-Laramie Territory.

Mr. Elsie, a merchant of Westport, Missouri, arrived at Kansas City from Salt Lake on the 4th of November. The gold fever had reached Salt Lake City before he left. Quite a number of the Mormons had left for the Pike Peak gold region, and more were preparing to start. Mr. E. came by the Cherry Creek diggings, and after personal examination is satisfied as to the richness of the deposits, and says they will pay as well as any yet discovered. The members of the Georgia Company were realizing from $5 to $15 per day to the man, with picks, pans, and shovels.

That gold abounds in considerable quantities along the base of the Rocky Mountains on the western border of Kansas is a settled matter, and returned miners report the gold area a large one. The emigration this season is but the first wave of the tide of gold seekers that will set westward another year, and the St. Louis Democrat remarks that it will not be at all surprising if a delegate from Laramie Territory should be asking for a seat on the floor of Congress before the end of another year. It adds:

Let the free white laborers of the United States proceed at once to reduce the testimony into possession, or we shall have the Union again convulsed with an attempt to secure its treasures for slave labor, and its occupancy to the African race.

Illinois vote on State Ticket.

The Chicago Press of the 9th, publishes the vote, officially, of all the counties in the State except nine. In these nine not heard from, it gives the vote for Governor in 1856, and the footing shows a Republican majority on the State ticket of 4,017.

Light at last appears to be breaking in Egypt. Five counties in Southern Illinois, which gave Fremont in 1856 an aggregate vote of 503, now give the Republican ticket 1,814 votes. Thirteen other counties which gave Buchanan 8,129 votes, now give the Douglas ticket only about 4,000. In 1856 there was but one Republican vote in Effingham county. The official vote of Effingham now is 207 Republican, Douglas 796, Buchanan 0.

Mr. Clay to the Boys.

The Western Farmer's Almanac for 1859, contains a letter from the Sage of Ashland to one of his namesakes, which has never before been published, and is so characteristic of that great man that we take pleasure in transferring it to our columns:

ASHLAND, 7th July, 1845.

My Dear Little Namesake—Your parents have done me the honor to give my name to you. On that account, and at the request of your good mother, I address this note, which she wishes to preserve for your personal use, to you. I am glad you shall have attained an age that will enable you to comprehend and appreciate its friendly purport. Your parents entertain fond hopes of you, and you ought to strive not to disappoint them. They wish you to be good, respected, and content. You can realize their most sanguine hopes, if you firmly resolve to do so, by judicious employment of your time and your faculties. Since you are young, and all disposition to its inevitable consequences. Study diligently and perseveringly. You will be surprised at the ease with which you will master branches of knowledge which, at first view, will frighten you. History, poetry, natural and political science, your favorite studies, will be made easy to you, and you will be able to do so, by judicious employment of your time and your faculties. Since you are young, and all disposition to its inevitable consequences. Study diligently and perseveringly. You will be surprised at the ease with which you will master branches of knowledge which, at first view, will frighten you. History, poetry, natural and political science, your favorite studies, will be made easy to you, and you will be able to do so, by judicious employment of your time and your faculties.

By regulating yourself according to these rules you may become respected and great, and an ornament to your country, and a blessing to your parents. That such may be your destiny is the sincere wish of their and your friend.

H. CLAY.

Revenue Deficit-New Douglas Basin.

A Washington despatch of the 9th says: The revenue for the last quarter is $6,000,000 less than during the corresponding period last year. The imports for the last year have fallen more than $100,000,000 below Secretary Cass's estimates. It is rumored that several of the Anti-Compensation Democrats, just elected, are ready to give in their adhesion to the Administration on all other issues, in order to conciliate the South for the advancement of the interests of Douglas. Arrangements have been completed for uniting the Richmond South and Washington States to form a new Douglas Basin.

TERRELL MARRIAGE IN MEXICO.—The Brownsville Flag of the 27th ult., has the following in reference to the reported marriage of 400 of Viduaria's men, taken prisoners by Gen. Miramon in the late engagements before San Luis.

In the engagements between the Reactionist forces and those of Viduaria, 400 of the latter's men were captured by the former, who, after some time, were released, and taking from them their most valuable equipments, ordered his command in command to take them from his sight and do with them as he thought fit. This inhuman wretch, who well knew what would ensue, for he had seen the fate of the men in his hands of soldiers, who were just then in a bestial state of intoxication. They fell upon the captives, who were entirely defenceless, and a horrible massacre ensued. At the end of this terrible scene, the lifeless bodies of four hundred human beings were found stretched upon the ground, mangled and weltering in their blood, a patent sacrifice to the holy cause of liberty.

The Jackson, (Miss.) Eagle of the 28th ult., learns that Col. S. A. Lockridge will go by the next steamer, Gen. Rusk, for Mexico, to tender the Liberal party, which was recently defeated under Gen. Viduaria near San Luis Potosi, substantial aid in guns, munitions of war, &c., &c.

Editorial Morning Leader.

In the Review of this morning there is a statement that on Sunday night last some mercenary shot into the house of United States Deputy Marshal Dayton, of this place. In order to prevent a false impression being made, I send you this note. That there was a revolver fired two or three times in rapid succession, in or near Mr. Dayton's house, there can be no doubt; but that it was done by a mercenary there is every reason to doubt unless that mercenary was in the person of Dayton himself, or some one employed by him.

The prevailing and general opinion in this place is, so far as I have been able to ascertain, that he did the shooting himself, or procured it to be done, in order to turn the tide of sympathy in his favor.

If Mr. Dayton can make the impression abroad that he is a persecuted man, he will do abroad what he never can do in this community.

Americans Travelling in Europe.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia U. S. Gazette says that since Gen. Cass became Secretary of State, ten thousand right hundred and seven passports have been issued from the Department. Each passport is supposed to cover three of a family on an average, making some thirty thousand persons a year. An expenditure of $1000 each, and thirty millions a year would thus be required, and that is not the case. The fact is interesting and worthy of reflection.

McDowell the Suicide—A Warning.

We published a few days ago an account of the suicide of Charles McDowell, of Malvern, Carroll county, as furnished by a correspondent. The Salem Republican has comments on the sad case of this victim of liquor selling:

In the death of the person above, of above, intemperance has another victim, and young men another warning. Years ago, long before the life destroying serpent of the still had so completely wound its fatal coils around him, and when he was far from being beyond hope, we knew him well. But step by step he was alarmed from the path of rectitude and duty, by the siren song of the tempter. The whiskey-sister, who, in a great measure, is guilty of his blood, clearly pursued him, like homie after game, at a time when, we well recollect, he joined the church, forsook his old associates and resolved to be a better man. They, however, too well succeeded in their devilish purpose, and led him again to the same place when it is, and when it gives it its color in the end.

Since then we have frequently met him, and always found him pursuing the downward course, apparently regardless of consequences. We saw him at the Harlan, and saw him, in August last, and were sorry to see a man possessing his talent and physical strength prostituting them to so base an end; for he was little more than a wreck, and his mind was as feeble as his body. We were visiting some of our friends in Malvern, and heard he was living there, but as despondent as ever, and but little hope of him ever reforming. On Thursday morning, we were again at the Harlan, and saw him, and he was as feeble as ever, and but little hope of him ever reforming. On Thursday morning, we were again at the Harlan, and saw him, and he was as feeble as ever, and but little hope of him ever reforming.

Following the people, we soon arrived at his house, and there found him lying on the floor in the last agonizing struggle. He was in a state of such weakness, that he could not even lift his head, and he was as feeble as ever, and but little hope of him ever reforming. On Thursday morning, we were again at the Harlan, and saw him, and he was as feeble as ever, and but little hope of him ever reforming.

THE YEAR'S CROP.—The season of frost has arrived, and, fortunately, the great corn crop of the West is safe. One of the largest and best crops that has ever been raised in the West is that now being gathered by our farmers. The good crops of corn make up a great degree for the deficiency of wheat and oats. We sincerely congratulate our corn raisers upon their good luck in this important crop.—Florida Mail, Transcriber, Oct. 25.

MARRIED.

In Amherst, Nov. 4th, Mr. J. MONROE BARNES and Miss MARTHA E. RICHMOND, both of Amherst.

In Akron, Oct. 26th, Mr. JOHN THOMPSON and Miss MARY E. THOMPSON, both of Akron.

In Akron, Oct. 27th, Mr. C. B. BERNARD, Auditor of Summit county, and Miss MARY E. GARDNER, both of Akron.

In Akron, Oct. 28th, Mr. W. J. A. WATSON, of Akron, and Miss HATTIE F. FENN, of Tallmadge.

Funeral of the Archduchess Margaret of Austria.

The Vienna Correspondent of the 7th inst. writes: The funeral of the Archduchess Margaret of Austria, who died on the 10th inst., will be held on the 12th inst. at 10 o'clock. The funeral will be held in the church of St. Stephen, and will be attended by a large number of the nobility and the clergy. The Archduchess was buried in the Imperial Crypt.

THE Saxon Princess Margaret, wife of the Archduke Charles, was laid upon a block and covered in pieces, in order to send different parts of the body to various parts of the country. The chopping up was done in the presence of the Archduke's husband. Extended upon the red draped block lay the naked, white corpse, surrounded by priests chanting in Latin, youths evoking and uttering a number of men armed with choppers, axes and other instruments. First, the heart was cut out of the body, which was then sent to Rome to be deposited in the Vatican. The rest of the body was sent to the Archduke's wife, and then returned to Vienna. But it was not to rest here. Ten cities claimed the honor of being Homer's birthplace, and six Austria demanded the privilege of possessing all, or a part, of the sainted Margaret's body. The Bishop of Prague wished to obtain the head and shoulders, while the Archduchess was then wrapped in red velvet, and laid in state on a catafalque; and ultimately the mutilated corpse was placed in a coffin and deposited in the Imperial tomb.

The Supreme Court of Pennsylvania has decided the question between the Sandbury and Erie Railroad Company and the Canal Commission, in which was involved the constitutionality of the act of the Legislature authorizing the sale of the State Works, in favor of the Railroad Company, affirming the validity of the sale. This decision affords several prominent companies of Pennsylvania and neighboring States.

CURIOUS CASE.—About three years ago an old miser named Merriam died in Upper Sandusky, leaving money and property amounting to about $22,000. It was not known that he had a single relative living, and it was supposed his property would escheat to the State. It turns out, however, that he was convicted of smuggling on the Rhine, that afterward he came to this country, assumed the name of Merriam, and that he has relatives in Germany who have traced descent to Ohio, and bid fair to establish their right to the estate of deceased.

BISHOP SIMPSON.—The Pittsburgh Christian Advocate says that Bishop Simpson's health is again declining, and there is no prospect of his early recovery.

NEW PATENTS.—Patents were issued to the following Ohio inventors during the week ending Nov. 2d:

John W. Sibbet, of Cincinnati—For improvement in car seats.

J. H. Buchanan, of New Concord—For improvement in stoves.

Ellis B. Lowman, of Bell Air—For improvement in Miner's railroad turn or circular switch.

O. B. Thompson, of Hudson—For improved lock.

TOLDO HERALD.—This is the title of a new Democratic Daily evening paper established at Toledo. The publication was delayed until after the Illinois election, and instead of being an Administration organ it hoists the name of Stephen A. Douglas for the Presidency.

CRIME IN FRANCE.—The report of the French Minister of Justice upon the administration of criminal justice in France in 1857, has been published, from which we learn that during that period there were no less than 237 cases of murder, 30 of poisoning, 13 of parricide, 190 of infanticide, 76 of cutting and wounding, causing death, 23 of rebellion and violence to public authorities, 231 of assault on women and children, 68 of forgery, 499 of forgery, 186 of burglary, 209 of arson, and 117 of fraudulent bankruptcy. Report is said to be an improvement on former years. The period for which offenders are detained in prison for various reasons has been considerably diminished, owing to improvements effected in the form of criminal proceedings.

BURNED TO DEATH.—The only son of A. M. Stiles, living on Meridian street, was burned so severely about eight o'clock on Thursday last, that he died in less than twenty-four hours after receiving the injury. The boy was only five years of age, and was left at home with his two sisters, one seven years old and one younger than himself, his parents having gone into the village, no one being in the house but the children. The little boy lay down upon a table in the room on which he slept, and went to sleep, he was restless, and getting his light clothes into the candle, it was soon in a blaze, and awakening him, he fell from the table to the floor in a state of fright. He then ran and climbed upon his mother's bed, but finding it vacant he started to go out doors, the flames still at work upon his person. The door was shut upon him by his eldest sister, who told him to wait until their mother came home and put out the flames. In his agony he tried the door a second time, and was again prevented from going out by the sister—the third time he got out and ran to one of the nearest neighbors (Mr. Nathan Wilson's) and found him in a state of alarm, and he was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr. Wilson, and put to bed. So great was the volume of flame in which he was enveloped, that his roaring was heard, as he ran across the yard, by the inmates of the house. He was immediately stripped of his clothing and the flames caught and burned him. He was taken to the house of Mr